DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 86, 87, 90-93 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bogan et al.

Bogan et al disclose first and second partial shells (12, 14), enhancing heat transfer by disposing a conformable thermally conductive material or weatherproof material (18a, 18b)(col. 6, lines 25-30) between the first and second partial shells (re claims 86, 90-93)

Re claim 87, see Fig 1

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 88 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bogan et al in view of Nakagawa.

The teaching of Bogan et al as discussed above does not disclose the first and second shells pivoting about a common axis.

Art Unit: 2831

Nakagawa teach the use of a hinge (7) for rotating a lid or a partial shell. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include the hinge with the partial shell of Bogan et al for the purpose of rotating the partial shell to a certain angle

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 86-88, 90-93 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn.
